x10 FloodCam

The amazing FloodCam from x10 is a weather-proof wireless color video camera with built-in 2.4 GHz transmitter and motion sensor and attached dual floodlight casing. The FloodCam is activated by the integrated motion sensor so that when someone approaches your home, the floodlights (bulbs not included) come on, turning night into day and the camera catches the startled intruder on video! The camera transmits its picture via a built-in 2.4 GHz transmitter, to a Video Receiver (included with Complete Kit) which you connect to a TV anywhere in your home. The FloodCam sends the wireless signals even through walls, up to 100 feet so you can watch and record all the action!

Essential Reality's P5

This is the new glove-like computer peripheral device that allows you to manipulate game characters, images and 3D objects on your computer screen with only subtle movements from your hand, fingers and wrist.

Using P5, you can achieve full-motion control of images, computer 3D graphics and on-screen characters as well as interactive game action. The P5 is particularly well suited for gamers because the majority of today's games have a 3D user interface. Action games, first-person shooters, adventure games and sports games will all be dramatically enhanced by the ability to move easily and intuitively with your hand and fingers in 3D space.

Released Date: July, 2002
PRICE: $129.00 - $149.00
(depending on selected software)
